you go home tomorrow and I'll stay here and work. But if you want to stay and work with me on this floor, then I'm not going to work Saturday and Sunday so you can go home then. I'm going to take my time off on the weekend.

PRESIDENT: Senator Kelly.

SENATOR KELLY: No response.

PRESIDENT: Let's make it sure that the Chair is clear because you decided this issue this morning and I required that there be 25 votes at that time in order that when we adjourned today, they would adjourn until 10:00 a.m. Monday. Now, as far as I'm concerned, Senator Cal Carsten's motion is in order but it is reconsideration motion and that's going to take 25 votes in order to reconsider what we did this morning. And that's the way the Chair would rule unless somebody wants to get into the parliamentary procedure on that. That's go to that point. Senator Kelly.

SENATOR KELLY: Mr. President, colleagues. Since we decided to adjourn this morning for two days, my biological juices got to running on a couple days off with my blonde roommate. Don't take it away from me. Let's stay where we're at.

PRESIDENT: Senator Richendifer.

SENATOR RICHENDIFER: Mr. President, members of the Legislature. I think we more or less gave our words to the Appropriations Committee this morning that we would give them tomorrow. They agreed to work tomorrow and Friday in order to get this bill out and I would sure hesitate to override the ruling that was made this morning.

PRESIDENT: Senator DeCamp. The motion actually is to reconsider your action here this morning.

SENATOR DE CAMP: Mr. President and members of the Legislature. Since this morning when we made a decision to adjourn, some of us have made other plans and we'd have to unmake them all.

PRESIDENT: All right.

SENATOR DE CAMP: Second, if you listen to people, this is the owlst group we've ever had. I think we'd all ought to throw a bucket of cold water over everybody and cool off for two or three days.

PRESIDENT: Speak for yourself. The question is, do you want to reconsider the action this morning. This is the motion to reconsider. Senator Cal Carsten, do you want to close. Go on....go ahead.....wait a minute....oops.... Senator Stahmer, good heavens, the Chair wouldn't want to be guilty of not letting everybody be heard.

SENATOR STAHMER: Well, I'd like to speak....I'd like to speak against the motion and I've got a hairless roommate. I don't know where all the blinds and all those mermaid stuff leads us but let the budget committee get these bills out.

PRESIDENT: All right. Senator Cal Carsten is now closing on his motion to reconsider the action of this morning.
